The Passage

A great opportunity to make a short trip on a very large container vessel. On this line are now three identical ships used by a German shipping company.

It is also ideal for passengers who want to test once, whether they are "fit for a longer sea voyage" or simply shipping enthusiasts who want to observe the work in a large seaport. Fascinating is also the trip on the river Scheldt with such a big ship.

A bit of time flexibility is required for this trip, since the ships are used in a liner service in the Middle East and departures can therefore change.

The port sequence in the Northern European ports can also be exchanged at short notice

Subject to change without notice.
